Autism Spectrum Disorder:

The heart warming and comedic portrayal of Autism in the movie Rain Man may be the extent of understanding held by most people. For the 1 in 68 families who have a direct connection with Autism (aka Autism Spectrum Disorder), the reality is much different. Abnormal body posturing; abnormal tone of voice; behavioural disturbances and deficits in language comprehension are to varying degrees the symptoms of almost 20,000,000 diagnosed cases of Autism, worldwide.

The origins of this affliction are elusive, however genetics appear to be one of the root causes. Early detection, behavioural analysis and intervention through language and cognitive adaptation are considered best practices in dealing with Autism.

Your generosity and participation in the Surprise Auction will raise much-needed funds for research into unlocking the mysteries of A.S.D
