From our District Deputy Grand Master

R. W. Bro. D. Wayne Robinson

Greetings, Brethren:
During the past few weeks I have had the opportunity to reflect on my Masonic journey.

From those dedicated Masons who guided me through the offices of the Lodge, encouraged me to be installed as the W. M., to the Westmount brethren who proposed me as their choice as DDGM and finally the brethren of District C for electing me to that high office.

Twice I had the honour of serving as the W. M. of Westmount Lodge and also twice as W.M. of Centennial Daylight Lodge.

Throughout my Masonic career I have experienced so many wonderful visitations, installations, social events, G. L. communications, and picnics, all of which were opportunities to meet new brethren and form lasting relationships. .

This past year has been the highlight of my Masonic journey. To represent Hamilton District C as their DDGM and to be the elected representative of our Grand Master, M. W. Bro. D. Garry Dowling, has been an experience beyond my dreams. To be received and greeted so warmly by the W.M. and brethren of each Lodge within this great District is another experience that is unforgettable.

I have been truly blessed and I feel deeply honoured and proud to be called a Mason. I am fortunate to have so many dedicated and supportive Committee Chairmen that made my tasks so much easier.

I am deeply grateful to my Advisors who were always available to guide, direct and keep me from committing faux pas.

A good leader requires an expert assistant; I have an excellent member of my team in the capacity of District Secretary. With more and more communications coming from G. L. via e-mails, it is a necessity that the District Secretary keeps on top of the paperwork. W. Bro. Dave Midgely certainly fulfilled that duty.

I am overwhelmed by the outpouring of support to the District Charity. To those brethren that donated both financially and by providing non-perishable food products and to those brethren and their wives who volunteered their time in packing the food hampers and manning the Christmas kettles, words cannot express my feelings for your support to this worthy organization.

The project is not completed yet; we still have a couple of months to go so if you have not donated as yet please do so that we can assist the less fortunate.

Once again Brethren thank you for allowing me to be your District Deputy Grand Master and to have enjoyed such a wonderful experience. Thank You.

D. Wayne Robinson
District Deputy Grand Master

From the Grand Master.....

(Editors' Note: Since this is the last Message from our current Grand Master, we would like to present an abridged version of his thoughts as he is about to complete his term of office along with concluding comments from the D. G. M.)

Greetings, Brethren: As I read the Master's message in many of the Lodge Summons, I notice that there are many references to how quickly the year has passed. Make no mistake, my Brethren, the feeling is the same from where I sit. I can't believe that it has been four years since I started making a monthly message and now I compose my last one.

Let me express thanks and appreciation to each of you who served as the Grand Master's Representative this year and please pass along my sincere thanks to the District Secretary for his labours on behalf of the Lodges in your Districts.

Brethren, you know that I believe we are on the threshold of a great resurgence in Freemasonry in Ontario. I see renewed interest in the craft from non-masons; I see enthusiasm in the Masons I meet; I see vitality returning to our Lodge rooms; and I sense a kindling of interest in our experienced members. These are positive signs and ones that are not to be ignored. In very simple terms, we must prove to ourselves that we have the will to manage this resurgence and make great strides towards achieving our Vision. The words of Abraham Lincoln seem appropriate: "Determine that the thing can and shall be done, and then we shall find the way".

Each of us has rights and privileges associated with being a Mason. Each of us also has obligations and accountabilities. Finding the way to make things happen begins with finding those who will lead us. In our Lodges, our Districts and Grand Lodge, we must select from among us those who believe in the Vision, those who have a burning desire to contribute and those who have the skills and talents to make it happen. But the catch is, once elected or appointed to a position of leadership, these Brethren must assume the mantle that goes along with the title and the apron. Being a Master, being a DDGM, being a Member of the Board, all carry with it expectations, accountabilities and responsibilities – none of which are to be taken lightly. Does it take time? – yes; does it take commitment? – yes; do we have the Brethren with the potential among us? – yes we do!

It is an honour and a privilege to be given the opportunity to serve our brethren and I think that the only thing preventing some from accepting the challenge is the fear of lack of support. Those who are privileged to have a vote in selecting their Masonic leaders also have an accountability to provide that support, encouragement, and assistance whenever called upon. Consider the flock without a Shepherd to lead it; but also consider the Shepherd with no flock to lead. Finally, no leader has himself all the skills and talents required. Leaders must surround themselves with those who believe in the Vision, agree on the path towards the Vision, and who can subrogate the view of the individual for the betterment of the whole.

Brethren, look to the future; know that each and every one of you has a role to play in getting there; be thankful for the opportunity to be a part of it; make it happen!

As my term as your Grand Master draws to a close, I wish to express my whole-hearted thanks to the brethren of this jurisdiction for providing me with this incredible opportunity. To serve in the capacity of your Grand Master has been at times intimidating, stressful, humbling, gratifying, joyous, sad, hard work, rewarding and yet, most of all an honour and a privilege.

I feel that we have made progress in building on the foundations laid by my predecessors. We have planted some seeds and initiated some projects, which will only bear fruit in years to come. There is much still to do; we have a plan to lead us forward; we have the resources to make it happen. I leave this office with the fervent hope that we follow our plan and that we will continue to extend our reaches down the path which we travel, to return this wonderful fraternity to greatness once again. We look to the journey, not the destination, to provide joy and happiness to all our Brethren today and to the Brethren of tomorrow.

The respect shown to the Office of Grand Master in this jurisdiction is truly amazing. I thank you again for the opportunity to serve. I Believe in Freemasonry!

From the Deputy Grand Master....

Our Grand Master, M.W. Bro. D. Garry Dowling said in his first D.D.G.M. Communiqué (September, 2011): "As we offer ourselves in the service of Freemasonry, never forget that Freemasonry is dedicated to ensuring that as we pursue our lives' journey, we afford the best example for the conduct of others." Your continued service and support to your lodge, the district and especially to those who will follow in your footsteps, who will look forward to the knowledge and skills that you have gained this year, are of utmost importance. If you believe in Freemasonry, then share the experience and continue to make a daily advancement in Freemasonry.

Finally, as President of the Board of General Purposes, I would like to express my appreciation to the Members of the Board who have given their time, energy and talents to serve as Grand Lodge Committee Chairmen and Team Leaders. To all the Masons who served on various Grand Lodge committees, thank you. Your work was very much appreciated.

A Masonic Minute

“To the Queen and the Craft”

On June 2, 1953, Queen Elizabeth II was crowned “By the grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and of her other realms and territories Queen, Head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith “with great pomp and ceremony in Westminster Abbey. ‘Her other realms includes Canada.

It may justly be said that Her Majesty comes from a Masonic family. Her husband, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, was initiated in 1952, the year of her accession to the throne. Her father, King George VI was an active Freemason. As Prince Albert, Duke of York, he was initiated in 1919. Her great-grandfather, Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, son of Victoria and Albert, was initiated in Sweden in 1868, and served as Grand Master in England from 1874 until his accession as King Edward VII in 1901. Her grandfather, King George V, was not a Freemason, but three of his sons were: Edward, Prince of Wales, later King Edward VIII, Albert, Duke of York, later King George VI, and George, Duke of Kent. The Queen’s first cousin, H.R.H. Prince Edward, Duke of Kent, is the Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge of England, serving in that office since 1967.

The articles of union which joined the rival Grand Lodges, the Moderns and the Ancients in 1813 were signed by two Royal brothers, the Duke of Sussex and Prince Edward, the Duke of Kent as Grand Masters of the respective Grand Lodges.

The first member of the British royal family to be initiated in England was Frederick Lewis, Prince of Wales, in 1737. However, King James VI of Scotland who became King James I of England in 1603, was admitted to Masonry in 1601, qualifying him to be honoured as the first King of Great Britain to be a Freemason..

All of which proves the veracity of the statement, “that in every age monarchs themselves have been promoters of the art; have not thought it derogatory from their dignity to exchange the sceptre for the gavel, have patronized our mysteries and have joined our assemblies.”

Freemasonry is described as “a noble science and royal art.” In the traditional history of the Order, Solomon, King of Israel, and Hiram, King of Tyre, are named as two of the first Grand Masters, and figure prominently in our Rites and Ceremonies. At the high point of the Coronation Service the anthem written by George Frederic Handel for the Coronation of King George II in 1727, and sung at every Coronation since:, “Zadok the Priest and Nathan the Prophet anointed Solomon King” (1 Kings, 1:34).

The text has special connotation for Freemasons. We should remember that it was during the reign of George I that the first Grand Lodge was formed in London when the members of four old lodges met at the Goose and Gridiron Ale House under the shadow of St. Paul’s Cathedral on June 24, 1717.

The Loyal Toast to the Queen and the Craft proposed at every formal banquet takes on great significance in this context – it is a tangible demonstration that loyalty to the reigning Monarch is an essential principle of Freemasonry.

Meridian Lodge No. 687

W. Bro. Jeff Deans

W. Bro. Jeff Deans was born and raised in Hamilton. He attended McMaster University before earning a B. Ed. at the University of Windsor Faculty of Education. Since 1989, Jeff has taught in the elementary panel for the Hamilton-Wentworth District School Board. He lives on Hamilton Mountain with his wife, Jennifer, and their son and daughter, Sage and Willow.

Jeff was initiated into Freemasonry by the brethren of Meridian Lodge in 2007, and installed as Worshipful Master in June, 2013. Always grateful for the fraternal support of his Meridian brothers, Jeff is looking forward to what is shaping up to be a busy year with plenty of degree work, visits and social events, (and to turning fifty while in the East.)

Brotherly love being the first of the Grand Principles upon which Freemasonry is founded, Jeff intends to place the focus on building and maintaining supportive relationships among the brethren of Meridian Lodge during his tenure as Worshipful Master.

A Young Mason's Journey

to find, the making of a good man, better.

PART III - Conclusion

by Brother Mark Kapitan, F.C.F.
Ivy Lodge No. 115, A.F. & A.M. G.R.C.

Psychologists say that speaking in public is more fearful to the average person than dying. They maintain that rather than give a eulogy, we would prefer to be in the box. By learning ritual, we expand our capabilities for memorization. Something many of us, have not done since public school, if ever. By delivering ritual, we overcome our fear, and learn to speak in public. This capability boosts our sense of self-worth, and self-confidence.

Consider each one of the officer-chair duties. Each one of them teaches a skill of some sort – keeping minutes, learning the lodge membership list, interacting with people we do not know, meeting a new man, and, taking responsibility for showing him around, setting goals, organizing volunteers to accomplish a set goal. Each duty has something of value. But, we actually have to do it ourselves. Nobody can do it for us.

This is probably the most practical response, that I have seen or heard to the question I have been asking. I believe that this is at least part of a possible solution, that Free-masonry offers us what we need, right here, in our ritual, protocol and etiquette, history, mechanics and very simply, in our operation of the Lodge. Then I have to ask this question, “If we do these very things offered in Freemasonry, ‘poorly’, will we get the same results?”

It is an interesting thought! Should we not take pride in what, and when we do things? I believe the answer is, yes! So, how do we achieve this? Is it through education? Again I would say, yes! Then one may ask, What education? Who will teach it and who needs it?

Going back to my eating theme for the answers, any number of things we eat can provide us with nutrition and enjoyment, or, very simply, satisfy a hunger. Who will teach? Well, some of us like to cook, and those who do not, have probably been asked to take a turn cooking, at some point. Truthfully, as our wives would tell us, it always tastes better when someone else is doing the cooking. I believe some of the recycled Past-Masters would feel the same way, with that reference. And, as for the “who needs it”, we all have the need to eat and most importantly, we all like to eat.

It may be bold of me, a Mason of just over two years, to make the comment that we all could benefit from some form of education; but I will offer up this situation for my defence. This past December my daughter turned sixteen. My wife suggested that I should be the one to teach her how to drive, after all, I should have more patience, because “I was a Mason”. My surprised look prompted her to offer up in her defence, “making a good man better”. I couldn't argue with that statement and, after several successful lessons teaching from my thirty plus years of experience, it was still recommended that we enrol her in Drivers Education. Firstly, for the insurance deductions, but, in all honesty I must admit, that with driving, I have been doing it for so long, some bad habits might have crept in, not to mention the changes in the laws over the years, that I may have missed learning. After a few short classes I started hearing things like, “Do you know that was a rolling stop?” Or “You are speeding” at 5 km over the limit.” As a man, who is proud to be a Mason, I display Masonic emblems on all our vehicles, so truthfully, I do not mind being reminded by her, or, re-taught for lack of a better word, as it can only improve the way I drive and the way I project being a Mason in the public eye. When I wrote this paragraph, I couldn't help but be reminded, that there are many circumstances where someone will view our behaviour, to evaluate what they will considered to be acceptable behaviour for themselves.

When I asked Brother David Ross, FCF, for some feedback on my presentation he did offer me a thought of his that I wanted to share – he said “Back to the “good man better” topic. My personal opinion, is that I am a better man for being a Mason – funnily enough, my wife believes that too, and that is because I truly ‘believe’ what I am saying when I recite ritual, and I try to follow its lessons – especially the second half of the Installation General Charge. The problem we face is, that many of the brethren doing the ritual can recite the work word perfectly, but they do not necessarily understand the ‘true’ meaning – if the teacher does not understand the subject fully, then the pupil, (or candidate) has no chance. Again I look to education to make a difference. Learning ritual and under-standing ritual are two completely different things.”

In closing, from the view offered by our fellow brother Terry Spalding-Martin FCF, I must say, for me, my feelings are, he does have the answer to my question, and has simply, laid out the short version. Freemasonry offers what is required, and our own action is the key to success. In hind-sight, every bit of our involvement has offered us the opportunity to work toward this; starting with our coming forward of our own free will and accord, asking questions of our sponsor, filling out an application, our roles in the Initiation, the degrees, our proving, visiting, all our participation, what we do while we are here, the desire to do it well but most importantly, learning and the acquisition of knowledge. I did however find two additional points not fully spelled out in his reply that seemed to be obvious. First, no time-line was offered to achieve the goal, so, it must be an ongoing, continuous journey, and one should strive to stay involved, even if it is just in the form of making the effort to attend our regular Lodge meetings. Secondly, it seems much of it often involves us doing it together, as brothers, supporting one another, and working together for our common goal. If all of these things are true, and I believe they are, I must thank you, brethren, for assisting me, with my own continuing journey, by making a good man better.

Blood Donors Committee Report

R. W. Bro. Eduardo Cordero

The Hamilton Masonic District Blood Donors Committee thanks the Chairman of Blood Donors of Hugh Murray Lodge No. 602, Bro. Trbuwan K. Persaud, and all the brethren from his Lodge for taking over the responsibility of manning the hospitality station at the U.S. Steel clinic every other month from now on.

Many thanks also go to the brethren from Buchanan Lodge No. 550, once again, for taking over one more hospitality station at the MUMC clinic once a month. Buchanan Lodge No. 550 is now volunteering at two different clinics every month. It is dedication like this which inspires the Blood Donors Committee to continue with our efforts to assist the Canadian Blood Services with the noble cause of collecting blood in our community.

At the same time, the Committee has been assigned a new clinic at Huntington Park School, 87 Brentwood Dr. in the East Mountain and is now looking for a Lodge which will take over this clinic on a permanent basis, manning the hospitality station once every month. Please, if interested, contact R.W. Bro. Eduardo Cordero at 905-730-9850 or 905-548-5111 or at ecordero@cogeco.ca.

At the present time, the Hamilton Masonic District C Blood Donors Committee is assisting the Canadian Blood Services in three different ways:

- By encouraging Brethren, families and friends to donate blood at the various clinics in the city. For a list of locations of the clinics and their schedules contact www.blood.ca
- By making financial contributions to C.B.S. Most of the Lodges in the district take part in this program.
- By a number of Lodges in the District manning hospitality stations at five separate clinics in the community.

Paramount Clinic (alternate months) Meridian No. 687
HCC Clinic (every month) Buchanan No. 550
MUMC (every month) Buchanan No. 550
U.S. Steel Clinic (alternate months) Hugh Murray No. 602
Huntington Park clinic (every month) (still open for takers)

On behalf of CBS, all the hospitals in South Western Ontario and the community at large, the Blood Donors Committee wants to express its gratitude for a job well done by most of the Lodges in our District.

DISTRICT CHARITY UPDATE

Brethren: The District Charity for 2012 - 2013 has concluded.

The financial donations are being totalled by the Masonic Foundation of Ontario who will release a cheque that will be presented to the Salvation Army Family Services (Hamilton Chapter) in early July.

A full report on the project will appear in the August Edition of the Chronicle.

There are many people to thank for their time, financial contributions and food donations given during this past year. To the Brethren and Lodges who assisted financially and with food products, I thank each and all of you. To our members and their spouses who gave of their time to pack food hampers and station the Christmas kettles, your labours were much appreciated by the Army staff. To the individuals who collected the food products donated during the city-wide food-drives at the various fire stations and delivered them to the food bank, again thank you for your contribution.

To the Editor and staff of the 'C'hronicle, I thank you for allowing me on a monthly basis to convey to the district the status of this project; the monthly articles were a sure motivator to keep the drive moving ahead.

To the organizers and members of Westmount Lodge No. 671 who held a successful raffle campaign and presented a large cheque to the Masonic Foundation to be applied to the District charity, a huge thank you from the charity team.

Finally, I would like to recognize and thank the following companies that supported the charity through out the year with financial donations and prizes for the raffle:
